The following report of the Interim Legislative Committee on Med-Fly Eradication and Pest Control, was received:

May 28, 1957.

The Honorable LeRoy Collins
Governor of Florida

The Honorable Wm. A. Shands
President of Florida Senate

The Honorable Doyle E. Conner
Speaker of Florida House of Representatives

REPORT OF SPECIAL INTERIM LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE ON MED-FLY ERADICATION AND PEST CONTROL

Gentlemen:

This committee was authorized by Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 41 xx (56).

The following members of the Legislature were appointed to serve on the committee:

Senators	Merrill P. Barber	12th District
	Fred O. Dickinson, Jr.	35th District
	J. C. Getzen, Jr.	38th District
Representatives	Ben Hill Griffin, Jr.	Polk County
	S. C. Smith	DeSoto County
	G. W. Williams	Hardee County
	J. R. A. Williams	Pasco County

The organizational meeting was held on August 1, 1956, Senator Barber being elected chairman and Representative G. W. Williams, vice-chairman, Louise C. Gibbons, Secretary.

The chairman read the Resolution and pointed out that the purpose of the committee was to act in a supervisory capacity as "watchdog" over the $5,000,000.00 appropriated by the Legislature in special session to be used to eradicate, if possible, the Mediterranean fruit fly. The chairman further stated that it would be the desire and intent of the committee to keep in close touch with the State Plant Board and the Budget Commission, and to see that the money appropriated would be spent wisely and that no more money would be spent than absolutely necessary to accomplish the eradication of the Mediterranean Fruit Fly.

Chairman Barber also reported that Ervin Peterson, Assistant Secretary of the United States Department of Agriculture, had assured him and Governor LeRoy Collins that the Federal Government would match the state appropriation, which was done.

At all meetings of the committee since the eradication work was started, studies were made of expenditures, also the actual progress of the eradication work has been closely followed. Early estimates were that an area of approximately 800,000 acres would have to be sprayed with a bait spray to destroy the fly. Below is a brief summary of the work actually done:

788,007 acres sprayed with bait spray one or more times

6,240,318 aggregate acres sprayed by air with a small addition of ground spraying

29,274 acres of ground treated with dieldrin

47,810 traps now in the field over that state

800 approximate personnel at the peak of employment

28 counties total in which infestation was found

Present Situation

15,725 acres now under spray

5 counties in which spraying is now being done

9 counties now under quarantine

Ervin Peterson, Assistant Secretary of the United States Department of Agriculture, stated when he met with the Governor and the members of this committee on March 8, 1957. "This has been one of the most satisfactory programs from the standpoint of cooperation between State and Federal agencies the United States Department of Agriculture has ever experienced. We can anticipate moving to a strictly surveillance program sometime during the coming year. There will be substantial funds needed for the next fiscal year to carry on this surveillance program and I strongly recommend that it should be continued. Two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) matching funds have been placed in the Federal Budget for the purpose of continuing this program for the next fiscal year. It is my judgment that if Florida and the United States Department of Agriculture had not moved in to carry out this effective program, that an embargo on shipment of fresh fruits and vegetables would have been placed on the state. Such action by the other forty-seven states would have created a serious disruption to the agricultural economy of the State of Florida."

Governor LeRoy Collins said at this March 8th meeting: "From our point of view, we feel that this has been a most successful program. We have had the able cooperation of Mr. Peterson and the United States Department of Agriculture, and I feel there has been a fine demonstration of cooperation on the part of this committee, the State Plant Board and all state agencies involved."

Based on information received regarding experiences with the Mediterranean Fruit Fly in other countries and similar pests in different parts of these United States, it is the consensus of the committee and all concerned that a program of trapping should be continued permanently to guard against new outbreaks. We feel that preventative measures are far less expensive than an eradication program.

Inasmuch as this committee was also set up as a "pest control" committee, it is the recommendation of the committee that it should be continued by legislative act.

It is the unanimous opinion of the committee that the entire emergency campaign has been handled as effectively and economically as possible, and the State Plant Board and the United States Department of Agriculture are to be commended for the vigorous all-out fight against a pest which is recognized the world over as a most serious threat to fruit and vegetable crops.

Respectfully submitted,

MERRILL P. BARBER, Chairman
Senator, 12th District

G. W. WILLIAMS, Vice-Chairman
Representative, Hardee County

Senator Barber moved that the foregoing report of the Interim Committee be filed.

Which was agreed to and it was so ordered.

MEMORIAL DAY REMARKS OF PRESIDENT W. A. SHANDS

Section 683.01, Florida Statutes, designates May 30th as "Memorial Day for Veterans of all Wars." In spite of the fact that we are sorely pressed for time, I think it would be both fitting and proper that the Senate take notice of the laws of the State and in some way pay tribute to the brave men and women of our nation who fought and died for the cause of liberty.

Memorial Day, or as it was first called, "Decoration Day" is said to have had its origin at Columbus, Mississippi, April 25, 1866. On that day three women of Columbus, visited Friendship Cemetery near the city and cleaned off the weeds and briars from the graves of the Confederate soldiers buried there. This deed was repeated the following year when a beautiful ceremony was added, no distinction being made between the graves of the confederate dead and the graves of the 40-odd Union soldiers buried there. About two weeks later the New York Tribune carried a full story of the incident and the North was thrilled by the generosity of the act, so much that Francis Miles Finch was inspired to write his immortal poem, "The Blue and the Gray," a stanza of which I recite:

"These in the robing of glory
Those in the gloom of defeat,
All with the battle-blood gory,
In the dusk of eternity meet.
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment-day;
Under the roses the Blue,
Under the lillies the Gray."

It has been said that "A generation that fails to commemorate the glorious deeds and achievements of those gone before will not likely be worthy of being remembered by those who came after." It has also been truly said that "A land without memory is a land without hope."

How can we best commemorate our honored dead? Eulogy is the commonly accepted way, but words somehow seem empty and inadequate. The placing of floral wreaths upon their graves is a very tender and touching act, but flowers are so short-lived. It could be that the best way to honor their memory would be by dedicating ourselves to the glorious principles for which they fought—liberty, freedom, democracy and world peace.

Military history reveals that we have fought in more than a hundred wars and engagements in the less than two centuries of our national existence, but in only eight major wars. The Revolutionary War, the War of 1812, the Mexican War, the War Between the States, the Spanish-American War, World Wars I and II and the Korean Conflict. In each of these wars a different principle may be said to have been involved.

American arms have been triumphant in all of our foreign wars and engagements; yet it is difficult to foresee how any nation could be victorious in this age in a global war involving the use of modern weapons. It could well be that the ending of war is not only the major task of civilization but the only guarantee of the survivorship of civilization.

Our land is dotted with over 400 beautifully kept national cemeteries, and we have more than 100 military cemeteries in foreign lands around the world. As the sod on these graves has been made green by the spring showers, may our memories be refreshed on this Memorial Day with the everlasting debt of gratitude and honor that we owe our fallen dead.

Senator Davis moved that the foregoing remarks made by the President on the occasion of Memorial Day be spread upon the Journal.

Which was agreed to, and it was so ordered.

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 1168:

A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION CREATING THE APPROPRIATIONS ADVISORY COMMISSION; PRESCRIBING ITS PURPOSES, POWERS AND DUTIES; PROVIDING FOR THE APPOINTMENT OF ITS MEMBERS; REQUIRING A REPORT TO THE LEGISLATURE.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE SENATE OF THE STATE OF FLORIDA, THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES CONCURRING:

That there be created an independent legislative agency to be known as the "appropriations advisory commission" which shall consist of a director and two (2) assistant directors, each of whom shall be appointed by joint action of the speaker of the house of representatives and the president of the senate to serve for a two (2) year term beginning on the first Monday following the adjournment of the 1957 legislature, with their successors to be similarly appointed to serve a two (2) year term on the corresponding day of every second year thereafter.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED That the headquarters of the appropriations advisory commission shall be at the state capitol and that the clerk of the house of representatives and the secretary of the senate shall provide the commission with the necessary office space and make available to the commission such clerical and stenographic assistants as may be required by the commission to carry out its duties and functions.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED That the appropriations advisory commission shall have the duty of gathering, compiling, assembling and preparing, for orderly, clear and concise presentation to the legislature such information as may assist the legislature in establishing a sound, reasonable and judicious appropriation for the operation and maintenance of each of the various state functions during the succeeding biennium.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED That, in order to carry out its duties, the appropriations advisory commission is empowered with the right and authority to inspect and investigate the books, records and physical plant of any agency in this state for which an appropriation is to be, or has been, made. In addition, the commission shall have access to the records of the state comptroller's office and of the state auditing department in order that the information available in such departments as a necessary adjunct to the duties of those offices may be utilized by the appropriations advisory commission in the performance of its duties.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED That the objective of the commission shall be to inform the legislature how the various state agencies are expending the funds previously appropriated to them; to compare current month-to-month and year-to-year expenditures with one another and with past month-to-month and year-to-year expenditures; and to clearly indicate to the legislature the emphasis being placed upon expenditures, both within and without a class of expenditures, by the various state agencies. Thus informed as to the relationship between past appropriations, past expenditures and past purposes, the legislature will be better able to determine sound, reasonable and judicious future appropriations in the light of future purposes.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED That the director may make and enforce reasonable rules and regulations to facilitate the functions and duties of the commission.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED That not less than sixty (60) days preceding the convening of any regular session of the legislature the appropriations advisory commission shall submit to each member of the appropriations committee of the house of representatives and of the appropriations committee of the senate, to the speaker of the house of representatives and to the president of the senate, a report, under one cover, of all information specified in this resolution.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED That no member of the appropriations advisory commission shall actively engage in any other business or profession; nor shall he serve as a representative of any political party, or on any executive committee or other governing body thereof, or as an executive, officer or employee of any political party, committee, organization or association, or be engaged on behalf of any candidate for public office in the solicitation of votes, funds or otherwise. No member of the appropriations advisory commission shall become a candidate for election to public office while so employed.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED That any state or county officer who shall wilfully fail or refuse to furnish or produce any book, record, paper, document or other data necessary to the function of the appropriations advisory commission shall be removed from office.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED That the members of the appropriations advisory commission shall, before entering upon the duties of their office, take and subscribe to the oath of office required of state officers by the constitution, and shall give bond, with any surety company authorized to do business in Florida as surety, in the amount of five thousand dollars ($5,000.00), payable to the governor, conditioned upon the true and faithful discharge of their duties. If any member, within thirty (30) days after receiving notice of his appointment, shall fail to file with the secretary of state the required oath and bond, such appointment shall be of no effect and another appointment shall be made. The annual premium for all bonds shall be paid out of any funds provided for the operation of the commission.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED That expenses incurred incident to the functioning of the appropriations advisory commission shall be paid out of the legislative expense provided by §11.12, Florida Statutes; provided that no such payment shall be made until the voucher shall have been approved by the chairman of the house administrative committee and the chairman of the senate management committee.

A RESOLUTION RELATING TO THE VOLUMINOUS AMOUNT OF LEGISLATION INTRODUCED IN THE 1957 SESSION; AND FIXING THE BLAME THEREFOR; AND MAKING CERTAIN RECOMMENDATIONS.

WHEREAS, in the history of the Legislature of Florida, we of the 1957 regular session are the peers of all previous sessions as to the quantity of legislation, and

WHEREAS, the main responsibility for this condition rests, of course, with the members, but to a very large extent the Bill Drafting Department of the Attorney General's office has aided and abetted us, who with their watchwords "I'll try to have this out yesterday" have labored at our side during the long and hard hours of this session, and

WHEREAS, Buster Neeley, Assistant Director of Bill Drafting, who recently drafted his 2,000th bill in the service of this body, and who has since the 1949 session been the veritable workhorse of the legislature in this field and is probably the author of more laws appearing on our statute books and session acts than any other person, was here, and

WHEREAS, the lady lawyers of the department, Rose Deeb Kitchen and Sallye Cooksey, have labored well and hard in the vineyard of the multiple requests for bills and advice, and

WHEREAS, the 1957 staff of young lawyers on united duty for the session as bill drafters are the most able to serve this body and have performed more as seniors than freshmen, and have weathered the storm in good shape along with the veterans, Jerry Hussey and Ben Griffin, and

WHEREAS, the secretarial staff stand behind any accomplishments that may be claimed by the rest, five of these ladies having turned out over two thousand bills and resolutions of varying length during the session, all of which were filed, indexed and recorded by Mrs. Jewel Roemer, a veritable fountain of answers to questions, NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF FLORIDA:

That the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of Florida relating to the Legislative Department of the Government is hereby agreed to and shall be submitted to the electors of this State for ratification or rejection at the next general election to be held in November of 1958, that is to say:

ARTICLE III

LEGISLATIVE

Section 1. Composition.—The legislative power of the state shall be vested in a Legislature of the State of Florida, consisting of a Senate and a House of Representatives, whose sessions shall be held at the seat of government.

Section 2. (a) Regular sessions—extensions.—A regular legislative session shall be convened on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in April of each odd-numbered year for not more than sixty consecutive days; provided, by three-fifths vote of the members of each house it may be extended for not more than thirty additional calendar days, not necessarily consecutive but not extending beyond the following August, during which no new legislation may be introduced without the consent of two thirds of the members of the house in which it originates.

(b) Extra sessions.—When within sixty days from filing of the first certificate one fifth of the members of each house of the legislature shall have filed with the secretary of state their certificates that an extra session of the legislature is required for the common good, he shall within seven days thereafter give notice thereof to all legislators by registered mail and poll them on the question: "Shall such session be held?" If three fifths of the members of each house shall within fifteen days after such mailing file with him their affirmative votes thereon, he shall call such session to convene on a date fixed by him not less than fourteen or more than twenty-one days after such mailing. Such session shall not exceed thirty consecutive days.

(c) Special sessions.—The governor may by proclamation stating the purpose convene the legislature in special session not to exceed twenty consecutive days, during which only such legislative business may be transacted as is within the purview of the proclamation or of a communication from the governor, or is consented to by two-thirds vote of each house.

(d) Reapportionment sessions.—The legislature shall meet in session as provided herein for reapportionment of representation in the senate and house of representatives.

(e) Organization—expenses.—The legislature may in any session provide for its organization, expenses, and other incidental matters, including per diem of members.

(f) Adjournment by governor.—If the two houses cannot agree upon a time for adjournment, the governor may adjourn the legislature sine die or to any date within the period authorized for such session.

Section 3. (a) First legislature.—The first legislature shall be composed of the members elected pursuant to the Constitution of 1885, whose terms of office shall expire as therein provided.

(b) Terms of legislators—vacancies.—Each representative shall be elected for a term of two years and each senator for a term of four years at a general election by the electors of the area he represents. He shall take office upon election. Vacancies shall be filled by special election as provided by law.

(c) Senatorial districts.—Each senator shall represent a senatorial district designated by number in consecutive order. In the first legislature senators representing odd-numbered districts shall be those elected in 1956 and senators representing even-numbered districts shall be those elected in 1958. Their respective successors shall be elected at the general election held in the year in which their respective terms expire.

(d) Qualifications of legislators.—Each legislator shall be at least twenty-one years of age. He shall be an elector and resident of the area from which elected. If he fails to maintain such resident during his term of office his seat shall be vacated.

At the regular session in 1959, and at the regular session in 1963 and decennially thereafter, the legislature shall by concurrent resolution reapportion the representation in the senate and revise the senatorial districts to the end that there may be fair and equitable representation based upon population, geographic area and community of interests, using the most recent federal census as the basis for the population phase of such reapportionment; provided:

(a) There shall be not more than one senator for each senatorial district.

(b) Two or more counties forming a senatorial district shall not be entirely separated by territory of another district.

(c) No county shall be divided in creating a district.

Section 5. Reapportionment of house of representatives.—At the same sessions as for the senate, the legislature shall apportion the representation in the house of representatives, and shall allow three (3) representatives to each of the five most populous counties, and two (2) representatives to each of the next eighteen more populous counties, and one representative to each of the remaining counties of the State at the time of such apportionment. Should the legislature fail to apportion the representation in the house of representatives, at any regular session of the legislature at any of the times herein designated, it shall be the duty of the legislature or legislatures succeeding such regular session of the legislature, either in special or regular session, to apportion the representation in the house of representatives as herein provided. The preceding regular federal census shall control in making any such reapportionment. In the event the legislature shall fail to reapportion the representation as required by this amendment, the governor shall (within thirty days after the adjournment of the regular session), call the legislature together in extraordinary session to consider the question of reapportionment and such extraordinary session of the legislature is hereby mandatorily required to reapportion the representation as required by this amendment before its adjournment (and such extraordinary session so called for reapportionment shall not be limited to expire at the end of twenty days or at all, until reapportionment is effected, and shall consider no business other than such reapportionment).

Section 6. Representation of newly created county.—A newly created county shall have one representative in the house of representatives until the succeeding reapportionment, and until that time shall be part of such senatorial district as the legislature shall designate.

Section 7. Continuing duty to reapportion.—It shall be the continuing duty and the preferential order of business of the legislature in every regular, extra, special, or other session to reapportion the representation as herein provided.

Section 8. Reapportionment sessions—alternative methods.—In the event the legislature shall fail to reapportion the representation in the legislature at any regular session when so required, the governor shall within thirty days after adjournment thereof call the legislature into extraordinary session to perform its duty in that behalf. Such session shall transact no other business, shall not recess for more than twenty-four hours, and shall complete reapportionment before adjournment; provided, the governor may, after the lapse of sixty days from the date such session is convened, by proclamation recess to a future date or adjourn the legislature sine die.

Section 9. Organization—officers.—Each house shall be the sole judge of the qualifications, elections, and returns of its members, and upon convening each regular session shall choose its officers, including a permanent presiding officer selected from its membership, who shall be designated in the senate as President of the Senate, and in the house as Speaker of the House of Representatives. The senate shall designate a Secretary, to serve at its pleasure, and the house of representatives shall designate a Chief Clerk, to serve at its pleasure.

Section 10. Procedure—adjournment—open doors—journal—discipline—compelling attendance.—Except as provided herein, each house shall determine its rules of procedure. Neither house may adjourn for more than three days without the consent of the other. The senate may close its doors to the public while sitting in executive session. Other sessions of each house shall be public. Each house shall keep and publish a journal of its proceedings, in which the yeas and nays of each member on any question shall be entered upon request of five members present. Each house may punish a member for contempt and by vote of two thirds of the members present may expel him. A majority of the members elected to each house shall constitute a quorum, but less than a quorum may adjourn from day to day, compel attendance of absent members, and prescribe penalties for failure to attend.

Section 11. Attendance of witnesses—production of evidence—contempt and penalties.—Each house may when in session compel attendance of witnesses and production of public and private documents and other evidence upon any matter under investigation before it or any of its committees, and may punish by fine not exceeding $1,000 or imprisonment not exceeding ninety days any person not a member who has been guilty of disorderly or contemptuous conduct in its presence or has refused to obey its lawful summons or to answer lawful questions. For making investigations between sessions the legislature may confer such powers upon any committee of legislators by a law limited to the committee designated, to a stated period of operation, and to the matters specifically assigned. The manner of exercising such powers, with appropriate right of appeal, shall be prescribed by law.

Section 12. Form of bill—one subject—title—amendment—enacting clause.—Every law shall embrace but one subject and matter properly connected therewith, which subject shall be briefly expressed in the title. No law shall be revised or amended by reference to its title only. Laws to revise or amend shall set out in full the revised act or amended section, subsection, or paragraph of a subsection. The enacting clause of every law shall read: "Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida."

Section 13. Passage of bills.—Any bill may originate in either house and after passage in one may be amended in the other. In each house it shall be read on three separate days unless two thirds of the members present when the bill is pending waive this rule. Its first reading shall be by title only unless one third of the members present order it read in full. Its second reading shall be in full unless two thirds of the members present order it read by title only. Its third reading shall be in full unless it is a general revision of the entire laws, in which instance two thirds of the members present may order it read by title only. In each house passage of a bill shall require a majority vote of the members present. It shall be signed by the presiding officers of the respective houses and by the secretary of the senate and the chief clerk of the house of representatives. On final passage the vote in each house shall be taken by yeas and nays and entered on its journal.

Section 14. Executive approval—veto—item veto of appropriations—repassage.—Every bill passed by the legislature shall be presented to the governor for his approval and shall become law if he approves and signs it, or fails to do so or to veto it within seven days after presentation; provided, if during such period the legislature finally adjourns or takes a recess of more than thirty days he shall have twenty days from the date of adjournment or recess to act on the bill. In all cases except general appropriation bills, the veto shall extend to the entire bill. The governor may veto specific items of a general appropriation bill.

When a bill or any item of a general appropriation bill has been vetoed by the governor, he shall transmit his signed objections thereto to the house in which the bill originated. If that house is not in session he shall file them with the secretary of state, who shall lay them before that house at its next session, and they shall be entered on its journal.

If both houses shall reenact the bill or reinstate a vetoed item of an appropriation bill by two-thirds vote of the members present, the yeas and nays shall be entered on the respective journals, and the bill shall become law or the item reinstated, the veto notwithstanding.

Section 15. Effective date of laws.—No law shall take effect until sixty days from the final adjournment of the session of the legislature in which enacted, unless otherwise provided therein.

The classification by general law of counties, municipalities, and special districts according to population shall, as to those falling within a different class by reason of change in population, become operative thirty days after the adjournment of the regular session of the legislature next convening after certification of the census establishing such change.

Section 16. Distribution of laws—judicial decisions.—The legislature shall provide for prompt distribution to the public of copies of all laws. Laws and judicial decisions shall be free for publication by any person.

Section 17. Special and local laws — requisites for enactment.—No special law or local law shall be passed unless notice of intention to seek enactment thereof has been published, in the manner provided by law, in each county in the area to be affected thereby, not less than thirty days or more than ninety days prior to introduction in the legislature. Proof of publication shall be recited on the journal of each house and evidence of publication preserved with the bill in the office of the secretary of state. Such notice shall not be necessary when the law is conditioned to become effective only upon approval by vote of the electors.

Section 18. Impeachment — effect — filling office during trial.—The governor, justices of the supreme court, members of the cabinet, judges of district courts of appeal, and judges of the circuit court may be removed from office only by impeachment by the house of representatives by vote of two thirds of all members present. Impeachments shall be tried by the senate, whose members shall be upon oath or affirmation when sitting for that purpose, and conviction shall require concurrence of two thirds of the senators present. The senate may adjourn to a fixed date for the trial, which date shall be not more than six months from the time articles of impeachment are preferred. The house of representatives need not be in session during the trial. The chief justice shall preside at the trial unless he is on trial, in which event the governor shall preside. Judgment shall extend only to removal from office and disqualification to hold any office of honor, trust, or profit under the state, and shall not affect the criminal or civil liability of the convicted officer.

Immediately upon impeachment by the house of representatives, the officer shall be disqualified from performing any duties until acquitted by the senate, and the governor may appoint an incumbent to fill such office until completion of the trial. Upon impeachment of the governor, the officer next in line of succession to the office of governor shall act as governor until completion of the trial.

Section 19. Appropriation bills—withdrawal of public funds.—

Laws making appropriations for salaries of public officers and other current expenses of the state shall contain provisions on no other subject. No money shall be drawn from the treasury unless appropriated by law.

Section 20. Officers not provided for herein.—The legislature shall provide for election by the people or appointment by the governor of all state and county officers in cases in which the method of selection is not provided herein.

Section 21. Civil service systems and boards.—The legislature may create or abolish civil service systems and boards for state, county, district, or municipal employees, and also for such officers thereof as are not elected or appointed by the governor, and may authorize such boards to prescribe the qualifications, methods of selection, and tenure of such employees and officers.

Section 22. Mechanics liens.—The legislature shall provide for giving to mechanics and other laborers an adequate lien on the subject matter of their labor.

Section 23. Alcoholic beverages—legislative authority.—In those counties in which the sale of intoxicating beverages is not prohibited as herein provided, the legislature shall regulate the manufacture and sale thereof by private persons or provide for the manufacture or sale thereof by the state or a state agency.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

By voting "No" on this bill it is my belief that the passage of this act will impair our pupil assignment law. Further, if it were not for the self-starter amendment that the Legislature now has, which was passed in the 1956 General Election, I would probably vote for this bill. However, with the Legislature's self-starter amendment I believe, that in the event any one or all of our schools should be ordered integrated by the United States Supreme Court, the required number of legislators would petition the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, respectively, to call themselves into session and take such action as they deem necessary in a harmonious fashion to abolish that particular school and provide for a private school system.

It is, further, my belief that this act would cause chaos and confusion at a time when the Legislature could probably do a better and more peaceful job.
